FIRE DEPT. CALLED FOR AUTO UPSET

Octo Perry, grocer, of No. 155 Franklin street, had a miraculous escape from a fire about 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon when the light Ford delivery truck, which was suddenly upset, was overturned in front of No. 155 McKinley avenue, and came to earth on its side with one end partly on the trolley track and the other in the gutter.

At exactly eye witness, fearing that the fire was about to consume the work of destruction, sent in a phone call to the Central fire station and a minute or two later the auto pumper, chief and deputy chief were on the scene. There was no fire, but the firemen righted the truck and then returned to the station.

It is understood that Mr. Perry was driving the truck down McKinley avenue to his store on Franklin street, when a bolt on the wishbone worked loose and dropped off. Mr. Perry lost control of the machine and the aerial flight was the result.

The front of the truck was badly damaged. One wheel was practically destroyed.

BOKEE RUNNERS CAUGHT

By WILLIAMSTADT POLICE (Special to The Bulletin.)

Williamstad, Feb. 17.—Two booke runners were caught while trying to slip through the police net in this city last night and the haul of wadlers were seized by the police and two cars, one a Cadillac registered, the other a Ford truck, are locked in a local garage. The booke runners were caught by the police while they were trying to slip through the police net in this city last night and the haul of wadlers were seized by the police and two cars, one a Cadillac registered, the other a Ford truck, are locked in a local garage.

The booke runners tried a new way of getting the booke through this city. Some 40 cans used for carrying motor oil or motor syrup had been filled with wadlers and placed in the radiator, and cans carried in rag bags formed the contents of the load carried in the Ford.

The net was stopped by the officers at the Cadillac. The police, stationed at the outskirts of the city, saw the car approaching and noticed it was carrying a load much heavier than usual in a car of that size. The car was stopped and the contents given the once over. At the police station the driver gave his name as Joseph Judem, and that of his companion as Sarah Judem, his wife. An automobile license carried by Judem gave his address as 425 East 13th street, New York. He also carried a taxi driver's license for use in that city. About 100 gallons of liquid were found in the car, in cans holding from one to five gallons.

This booke was packed away beneath the driver's seat, and in the storage space in the rear of the car. Judem showed the inclination to escape when halted by the police. The car bore the 1921 Connecticut mark 30-551.

The second car caught in the net was the Ford truck, driven by Benjamin Apple, who was a companion in the car of Joseph Wolf. Both men claimed Hartford as their home. Apple had no license card in his possession and will face a charge of driving without a license. In the rear of the truck were numerous rag bags, which being tapped gave forth a metallic sound. Some 50 gallons of booke was found in the truck, two quart bottles being among the lot.

The arrest of the booke runners attracted no little attention and many in the crowd heaved sighs of sorrow for the officers of the law who carry the "wet goods" which it will be safe from harm. It is believed that the booke runners were on their usual trip through this city to Putnam and points beyond and that the delivery believed they could get through Williamstad without detection. Once past this city they way would be clear as all their world face on the remainder of their trip would be a charade. According to the report, the arrest of a "booke up" was a relief to the officers of the law.

ISLAND SERVICE

Rev. William F. Parsons, rector of the Church of the Ascension, Wakefield, R. I., was the preacher at this opening service, Thursday evening, at Christ church in the service of mid-week, held at Christ church and Trinity church, Rev. Mr. Parsons spoke from the parables of the lost sheep, the lost coin and the prodigal son. The shepherd sought after the lost sheep, and greatly rejoiced at finding it. The woman who lost her coin and then found it also rejoiced. The coin was an unchangeable thing and was never lost. But when the son departed from his father's house to a far land the father did not search for him for he knew he would return for the son knew that he had sinned. Rev. Mr. Parsons said there was great rejoicing in the church and in the world when the son returned. He was a son of God and there is always a welcome for us no matter how far we have strayed from the path. With those who have never transgressed there is no conscious need of remorse but in those who have sinned there is always a consciousness of having sinned. There can be no question as to God's forgiveness. No matter how deeply we have sinned, there is always a welcome for us. I think it is your duty to seek the lost, those who have strayed like the sheep unknowingly. I don't believe it is our duty to run after those who have sinned but to wait for God's house, but when they do return be sure and welcome them, for God forgives and we should forgive.

Assisting at the services were Rev. J. Edward Bunker of New London, and Rev. William F. Williams, acting pastor of Christ church. At the offertory, Dr. Vincent Eldred was soloist supported by the vested choir.

GERMAN SHIPS TO BE BROUGHT TO NEW LONDON

Hartford, Feb. 17.—It was disclosed at the meeting of the legislative committee that negotiations are under way to bring two German liners from their ports in New York to the state pier in New London. Sen. W. R. Clark of the state pier told the committee that the liners, harbors and bridge commission of Connecticut had offered the U. S. shipping board the use of the state pier for the two German ships at a rate of $25 a day for each boat.

This rate, it was said, is considerably lower than that paid at New York where $175 a day is charged for each ship. Both the former German liners were used during the war as American army transports but are now idle and without crews. It was said the vessels would have to be towed from Long Island Sound if they are brought to New London.

Valuable Fat in Alligator Pear. Among the fruits used for food, the alligator pear is remarkable for its large proportion of fat, which runs as high as 20 per cent, or about the same as that of common cream, states an article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has been found that the human system assimilates this fat very readily up to as great a quantity as four and a half ounces a day.
